ST. LOUIS.

THE people of this county will surely be suffered to say whether they are willing to pay $100,000 per annum for five years, to insure the construction of a direct railway line from Memphis to Holly Springs and VERRAIGLES, VIA LONDON, January 1 Selma. If the County Court deem itself greater than its masters, the voters of Shelby; if these distinguished gentlemen believe themselves wiser than the great body of the people, General Forrest's proposition of such a place and people in the people of sitions may be properly withheld are due to your heroism and persever-ance, and to the bravery of the soldlers. from popular consideration. The assertion that the county is in debt has no reference to the question to be determined. No one proposes to augment this indebtedness. It is a cash transaction. When the debt matures it is, at the same instant, canceled, and the credit of the county is by no means affected save by the refusal to promote an enterprise which will add vastly to the wealth both of the city and county, and thus improve dria, which cost the English Government the credit of both. No member of the court worth $10,000 will deny that the proposed road would add $150, the amount of the five years' tax, to the value of his property, and thus it happens that voters might well fail to oppose an investment that involves Organization of Legislature -- Clayton the really no outlay. Richards, also a Clayton accepted, will enrich and not impoverish, and promote but never impair public credit. If the debt of Memphis owed its existence solely to railways built, and not to thieves who have plundered the city treasury, our bonds would be worth a premium; and if terest. The weather is clear and cold, the credit of Shelby county should be and the river is falling.
